HISTORY.

The following correspondence explains the origin of the Bill Library:—

NORWICH, Ct., Feb. 20, 1867.

Gentlemen:—Wishing to express my esteem for my fellow townsmen, and to acknowledge the many favors I have received from my native town, I present you my Check for One Thousand Dollars, in trust, the interest and income of which I wish annually expended for the maintenance of a Town Library, in the purchase of books, &c., for the use of all the inhabitants of the town of Ledyard, under such rules and regulations as you may from time to time adopt, or in accordance with any charter that may hereafter be granted by the General Assembly of this State.

In addition to the above One Thousand Dollars. I propose to give you a Library of five hundred or more volumes of books, with book-case, &c., as a nucleus of what may in time become a sufficient library for the town.

It is my desire that you organize by the appointment of proper officers, &c., and appoint a committee to petition the next Legislature for a Charter, and when obtained, the books and funds to be handed over to said corporation after you have accepted a Charter.

You will please direct as to the location of the Library and the construction of suitable book cases.

Now should the Library be neglected and abandoned, and the corporation be given up for a period of three years, said sum of One Thousand Dollars, with unappropriated interest, is to revert back to me or my legal heirs, or to any other benevolent object I or they may name.

I am aware that this is a small donation for the object in view, but in time, if well cared for, I think it will supply an ample library for the population. With this hope, I commit it to your care, invoking the blessing of God upon this enterprise and upon my beloved native town.

Respectfully and truly yours,

HENRY BILL.

WHEREAS, Our friend and former townsman, the HON. ☞ The following communication is from Rev. Robert Allyn, D. D., son of Charles Allyn, of Ledyard, and was intended to be put on a fly leaf of each volume presented by him to the Bill Library, but it is deemed of sufficient importance to be placed in the Catalogue. The books presented are six volumes—History of Methodism and the Methodist Church, by Abel Stevens, D. D.

Mr. Allyn is himself one of the best examples in the country of what a boy, with no unusual advantages, may become by an earnest self-culture, and by an industrious, frugal and moral life. The farmer's boy is now (1867) a ripe scholar, a powerful preacher, and President of Mc Kendree College, in the State of Illinois.

To the Readers of the "Bill Library":

Having in my boyhood derived much pleasure and great profit from reading, at such spare hours as a farmer's boy could find, the books belonging to the "North Groton Library," I desire to be allowed to add to the liberality of my old school-mate and generous founder of this "Bill Library," a few volumes. I do this to carry out, on every suitable occasion, the spirit of a promise long since made under the following circumstances, as well as an offering of gratitude to the founders of the old Library.

In the winter of 1838-9, I started on my homeward way, from a school I had been teaching, on foot and with a satchel in my hand. Snow covered the ground. My burden was heavy, and less than an hour's travel brought some regrets that I had not taken a stage coach. Just then a man in a sleigh overtook me and asked if I would ride. With gladness I assented, and rode till mid afternoon to within one mile of home. On getting out of the sleigh after a thirty miles ride, I asked: "How much shall I pay for my very opportune ride?"

"I suppose," said the man, "that you think, as I proposed the ride, I shall not charge anything for it."

"The ride has been none the less a favor to me than if I had asked it, and I am none the less willing to pay for it," said I.

"Well sir, I shall then charge double." I waited while he laughed very good naturedly, and as I thought, rather excessively. Then he said, "I have done you a favor, and you must pay for it in this way. If you ever have a horse and sleigh, or buggy, and overtake a foot passenger, as I did you, you must pay me by taking him up and carrying him on his journey. And you be sure to make him pay you in the same coin."

Somebody provided books for me to read when I was a boy. I want to provide a few for somebody's boy, and I hope those who read these will provide for all coming generations of Ledyard boys, that this town may be the most intelligent, virtuous and pious in all New England.

ROBERT ALLYN.

Ledyard, Aug. 1st, 1867.

☞ The following communication is from Hon. John T. Wait, Speaker of the House of Representatives for the session at which the Charter for the "Bill Library" was granted.

HON. HENRY BILL:

My Dear Sir—Having had the pleasure of rendering some slight aid towards obtaining the Charter of the "Bill Library," in Ledyard, I, with this, send you several volumes that, I trust, will be of sufficient value to be received as an addition to the works already on the shelves of the Library. You could not, sir, have presented to the citizens of Ledyard a gift that would ultimately be more valuable to them than you have bestowed in founding this public library; and knowing your strong attachment to the place of your nativity, I feel assured that you could not have done an act that would have given greater satisfaction to yourself. I have not a doubt but that the intelligent citizens of that town will take pride in adding to and perpetuating what will be not only a source of enjoyment to themselves, but a most valuable legacy to transmit to their children.

I am, sir, very truly yours,

JOHN T. WAIT.

New York, April 26, 1867.

To the Trustees of the Free Library at Ledyard, Conn.

Gentlemen.—The establishment of a free library in my native town is a matter in which I take great interest.

I avail myself of the pleasure it gives me in contributing towards the object for which the library is founded, and to this end I have this day sent per Adams Express (freight paid) a box containing One Hundred selected volumes. They go as far as Norwich by Express.

I trust they will prove an acceptable gift, and at some future time, my life being spared, I hope to be able to add to this expression of the kind feeling I bear towards my former townsmen.

Very Truly Yours.

LEDYARD BILL.

☞ Since the publication of the Catalogue the following action has been taken by the Town of Ledyard :—

At the annual Town Meeting held in Ledyard on the 7th day of October, 1867, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted, viz :—

WHEREAS, The Hon. HENRY BILL, of Norwich, a native of Ledyard, has endowed a Public Library in this town, and has expended upon the same the sum of Three Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($3,500,) which is to be for our benefit and that of our children and children's children to the end of time; and

WHEREAS, Such enlightened liberality deserves the warmest gratitude of the town, and the gift is worthy of being preserved and guarded with all the care and watchfulness it is in our power to bestow upon it; therefore

Resolved, That the thanks of the town be hereby tendered to the Hon. Henry Bill for his generous gift, which will, we trust, be more precious to us and our children than gifts of silver or gold.

Resolved, That we desire in this public manner to invoke for our honored friend all the blessings attendant upon good deeds, and we trust that the noble example which he has made, may be followed by other sons of our town, that our people may be forever distinguished for those virtues that spring from intelligence, morality, and an enlightened Christian virtue.

Resolved, That the Town Clerk be ordered to enter these resolutions upon the records of the town, and transmit a copy of the same to the Hon. Henry Bill, of Norwich, and to furnish a copy also to the papers of the County for publication.

JAMES A. BILLINGS,
Town Clerk.

From the Norwich Daily Advertiser, Oct 4th, 1867.

BILL LIBRARY.

The Library presented to the town of Ledyard, by the Hon. Henry Bill of this town, will be opened to the public on Monday next A neat catalogue accompanies the Library, by which we learn that there are 1013 volumes of standard works now on the shelves. There is also a Sunday School Library of 250 volumes. The Library is endowed with a permanent fund of $1,000, besides which Mr. Bill has expended about $3,000 in new books, book cases, catalogues, &c., winding up with covering the whole property with a five years' policy of insurance. The Library is, in all its appointments, probably the most complete town library in the State. Every inhabitant of the town is entitled to all its benefits upon the payment of 25 cents a year. The Sunday School library is free to all the Sunday School Scholars of the town.

This munificient gift is highly prized by the people of the town, who will, we doubt not, make it a matter of town pride to preserve it, and adopt every means for its increased efficiency and usefulness.

From the Norwich Bulletin, Oct, 2d, 1867.

THE BILL LIBRARY.

It will be recollected that, some months ago, Henry Bill of this city gave to his native town, Ledyard, the sum of $1,000 for the purpose of establishing a free public library. This gift he has since increased, by contributions of books, and otherwise, so that the entire amount of his donation is between $3,000 and $4,000. Other public spirited citizens have co-operated with Mr. Bill in the work, and the library is ready to begin operations with a catalogue of over one thousand books. The last General Assembly passed an act of incorporation, and the institution will be known as the "Bill Library." It will be open for the first time on the first Monday of the present month, town meeting day, and afterwards on every Saturday and Sunday. The opening of the library on the last mentioned day will, however, be partial, to permit the Sunday School children to avail themselves of a portion of the collection, some two hundred and fifty in number, which is intended especially for their use. A catalogue of the books has been printed, containing also the history of the foundation of the library and its regulations, which may be obtained of Edmund Spicer, the librarian, on the day mentioned above. Mr. Bill's generosity and public spirit in founding this library entitles him to the warm regard of the people of Ledyard, and it is to be hoped his labors will prove as useful to the town as they are honorable to himself.
